Life is 'episodic', and so this treatise reflects the episodes in my life which shaped me and led me to write this book.

It is not possible to write one's whole life story until it is ended; however, the highlights tend to shed light on the important events and concerns that shape a personality and show the direction in which a life might progress. The story which has already been written unfolds as time and events take place.

Writing about these things will, I believe, be therapeutic and will allow me to completely forgive any and all 'incidents' that seemed to frustrate or block my financial, social and spiritual progress, so that I may truly say, "All is forgiven; it is well with my soul." For after all, this is our real purpose in life; that we may live it, reflect on it; be grateful for it; and to do as Jesus taught us - to 'love one another; forgive one another as I have loved and forgiven you'. (Paraphrased)

Remembering and reflection on these things, I have come to know that 'greater is He that is in me, than he that is in the world.' So, as Paul the Apostle would say, 'I press on to the high calling which is Christ Jesus who was crucified in this world, but rose again, immortal and impassable.' (Paraphrased)

So as you read this book, may you be inspired to 'press on' to the high calling..., forgetting what is behind and looking forward to the greatest reward which is in heaven.
